

LOCAL NEWS

Tech company announces plans for Baton Rouge

Posted: Oct 2, 2014 2:09 PM by Russell Jones

Updated: Oct 2, 2014 2:09 PM

Source: WBRZ

Share 0

Rating: 4.0 (1 vote)

Topics: stixis, tech company, baton rouge

BATON ROUGE - An India-based SOFTWARE company announced plans Thursday to build facilities in Baton Rouge that would bring more than 200 high-tech JOBS to the area.

Stixis TECHNOLOGIES joined state leaders to announce the plans at the Louisiana Tech Park in Baton Rouge.

The software company said it would have a $100,000 capital investment in the area, and bring in around 230 direct and 200 indirect JOBS with average salaries just under $60,000.

Stixis DEVELOPS SOFTWARE for multiple industries, including oil and gas, health care providers, digital media and entertainment, education, retail and government.

OWENS
COLLISION & SERVICE CENTER
EST. 1983

YOUR COLLISION, YOUR DECISION!

Celebrating 30 Years of Service! Expert Advice and Unparalleled Service! Visit Our Site Here >>

MOST POPULAR

Viewed

All clear after man causes evacuation, quarantine - 31588 views

Victims in deadly I-10 wreck identified - 12075 views

TPSO: Amite cop accused of kidnapping, rape - 5729 views

A minor's unaccompanied story - 4339 views

Two parishes working burglary circuit - 3726 views

0 Comments

WBRZ

Login

Sort by Best

Share Favorite

Start the discussion...

Be the first to comment.

Subscribe

Add Disqus to your site

Privacy

NO PAYMENTS UNTIL 2015!

Jefferson Financial CREDIT UNION JF

800-259-2471
JeffersonFinancial.org